The exhibition "Walls to Talk To" is currently on display at the MMK Zollamt - a part of the MMK Museum für Moderne Kunst Frankfurt am Main. It unites works by the artist Jewyo Rhii (b. 1971) from the past fifteen years with new works, which have been executed during her recent stay in Frankfurt. For the MMK Zollamt, Jewyo Rhii has reconstructed parts of her apartment in Itaewon. Chandeliers, doors, pieces of linoleum, lattice fences and a large number of other elements in the installation are references to her former living space and, in keeping with the artist’s concept, are to be read as physical memories. For Rhii, the body remembers places and things more strongly than the mind. The drawings were originally not intended for exhibition but to be published in a book.
