Richard Peace here examines two very different conversion experiences - Paul's and the twelve disciples' -- and explains their implications for contemporary evangelism. By showing how conversion can take place either suddenly or gradually over time, Peace gives good reasons, and suggests practical ways, to replace one-sided evangelism techniques with more wholistic methods. Popular Textbooks. Encountering the New Testament. This book's primary focus is an examination of the aspects of conversion in the New Testament, and especially looked at Paul's instantaneous conversion vs the Twelve's conversion (what he calls process conversion). The conversion elements of the Twelve are taken from the Gospel of Mark, so there is also quite a bit of deep scholarly discussion of the structure, style and progression of Mark (quite a bit as in over half of this book). That said, it is by no means an easy read. However, Peace make This book's primary focus is an examination of the aspects of conversion in the ... Chart of the 27 Books of the New Testament with English titles, Greek words, and meanings. Story of the Bible - Part Two - Overview of The New Testament.Â Every author of the New Testament was Jewish except for Luke. Three of the writers: Matthew, Peter, and John were among the 12 disciples who walked with Christ during his earthly ministry.Â Paul's Conversion on the Road to Damascus Paul's First Missionary Journey Begins The Council at Jerusalem Paul's Second Missionary Journey Begins I Thessalonians is Written II Thessalonians is Written Paul's Third Missionary Journey Begins I Corinthians is Written Galatians is Written II Corinthians is Written Romans is Written The Gospel of Luke is Written Paul's Arrest at Jerusalem.