The Eleventh Hour is an illustrated children's book by Graeme Base. In it, Horace the Elephant holds a party for his eleventh birthday, to which he invites his ten best friends (various animals) to play eleven games and share in a feast that he has prepared. However, at the time they are to eat (11:00) they are startled to find that someone has already eaten all the food. They accuse each other until, finally, they're left puzzled as to who could have eaten it all. It is left up to Destroyer 70: The Eleventh Hour by Warren Murphy and Richard Sapir.

Everybody knew that anyone in jail in America was a political prisoner. Everybody knew that there was no atrocity committed anywhere in the world so bad that America hadn't committed.
