In a day of increased accountability and standards-based instruction, teachers are feeling greater pressure for their students to perform well on standardized tests. Every teacher knows that students who can read, and comprehend what they read, will have better test performance. This book, Nonfiction Comprehension Test Practice Level 5, is designed to help your Grade 5 students practice and prepare for testing with motivating nonfiction text and comprehension exercises. Developed by reading expert, Dr. Edward Fry, this series is based on articles from TIME For Kids magazine and provides reading comprehension practice in standardized test format. Encourage daily practice of comprehension skills while inspiring life-long readers as your Grade 5 students practice and prepare for testing with motivating nonfiction text and comprehension exercises! While practicing and analyzing test items and modeling test-taking strategies, a teacher must also promote life-long literacy skills. This book's whole-to-part-to-whole format provides a great resource for building comprehension strategies necessary for reading across the curriculum, while helping students become more familiar with expository text structure. I feel each of the books in this series contain complete units, encompassing cross-curricular connections and employing multiple modalities of learning. Great book with good comprehension questions. I use it with my English Language Learners at the 9th grade level. Read more.
