He singlehandedly amassed the amazing collection that became the International Gay and Lesbian Archive, currently housed at USC. This book is a collection of his writing, starting in the early 50's, for the Mattachine Review, One Magazine, the One Institute Quarterly Review and other such publications. He comments on events and people of the time, and discusses the issues relating to homosexual people and their position in U.S. society. The late Jim Kepner both capsulizes and comments on the news of interest to gays (mostly) and lesbians during the 1950's. He was not only a clear writer, but he also anticipated most of the best arguments that have been put forward since for tolerance and acceptance of homosexuality as natural.

During the 1970s gay and lesbian presses grew and flourished. More magazines, newspapers, and newsletters began to appear, many with a specialized identity featuring religious, political, or professional interests. Local and regional publications also burgeoned, and as the proliferation of gay and lesbian periodicals increased so did the "in your face" frankness of the content. Mr. Potvin, the board member, said another work, with which Mr. Kepner was forever tinkering, remained on his computer disk at his death: "Becoming a People: A 4,000-Year Chronology of Gay and Lesbian History."
Kepner's monthly roundup of gay news around the country, called "Tangents," was ONE's most popular feature during the 1950s. In addition to his work on the magazine, Kepner taught several classes at the ONE Institute, including one on homophile history and a popular seminar on Walt Whitman. Kepner also edited the ONE Institute's quarterly journal Homophile Studies. Kepner's historical writing, derived from years of tireless archival accumulation, established a framework for gay history adopted by most subsequent gay and lesbian historians, consciously or unconsciously.
